NOTICE TO MAIL TRADERS:

BOB CASE reports he is extremely busy right now and just hasn't got time to answer letters and inquiries, at least until he returns from Sweden and Denmark. He hopes to have a numismatic report on his visit to these countries, together with an extensive trading list which he will mail out around November 1st. Until then, he hopes all his fellow numismatists will be patient with him.

NI & GCTA JOINT PROJECTS:7th Edition Yeoman Checklist for Conversion from 6th Edition --

Enclosed with this bulletin is a copy of "A Checklist of Changes Made in 7th Edition, as Compared to the 6th Edition, of Yeoman's Catalog of Modern World Coins". This list was the combined effort of members from both Numismatics International and Globe Coin Traders Association. The work and final results was coordinated by NI-GCTA member GLENN V. RITTER. A vote of thanks should go to Glenn for such a wonderful job. He would appreciate hearing from the members with any comments concerning the checklist, good or bad. The list was printed in a manner which will permit you to fold in half and insert inside your 7th edition. For an exact fit, trimming of the margins will be necessary.

Extra Copies of the above list available for 10¢ ea. or 3 for 25¢. Write either NI or GCTA for extra copies.

Report on the "Yeoman Error Project" from Coordinator Marvin Fraley

While the basic work is only as far as East Africa into the book, there have been many ideas and suggestions put forth which are very worthy of serious consideration. Some of these are being listed here and additional comments or suggestions are welcomed.

1) Eliminate all issues from the 8th Edition that are currently covered in "Current Coins of the World" (CCW). This would get rid of the confusion concerning different pricing, numbering (see Germany YA92, YB92, YC92 in 7th and Y88a, Y90a, Y91a in CCW), etc. that has been encountered by many mail traders. It is felt that there should be a definite separation between Modern World Coins (MWC) and CCW, with no overlapping in either book. A notation such as "See CCW for later issues" should be placed after each country having additional coinage catalogued in CCW.

2) The space gained from eliminating the CCW issues could be used up by:

a) Adding more dating charts and identification aids. For example, the Table of Provincial Symbols for China which was in the 6th edition but deleted from the 7th should be reinstated.

b) Adding more plates in problem areas.

c) Inserting new sub-types and plates for varieties of many coinages now covered by the term "several varieties". See Afghanistan, for example.

d) A more detailed section on China with listing of many more types and plates.

e) The German States section should add plates to cover many of the present listings.

3) Deletion of all numbers assigned to Proof Sets, Maundy Sets and Presentation Pieces. These could be catalogued and priced but should not be assigned numbers. All assigned numbers should be reserved for regular issues of circulation.

4) Renumbering of the entire catalog on a standard basis. All countries should be renumbered beginning with No. 1. Assignment of numbers for metal changes only, different edge designs, varieties, etc. should be standardized throughout the catalog. All future discoveries of new types and varieties shall be assigned numbers in a standard form.

5) All coins shown by plate should have an asterisk preceding the number if the listing below the plate consists of more than one issue.

Listed below are a few recommended changes that will be considered when the final analysis of the project is completed.

AFGHANISTAN - Complete revision needed. Many issues now listed as "varieties" should be inserted as types. Sub-numbers (a,b,c,) should be included for varieties and plates should be inserted to cover them.

ALBANIA - Suggested sequence of renumbering: 1-2, 5-6, 8-11, 14-17, 3-4, 7, 12-13, 18-26.

ANGOLA - Renumber entire country starting with No. 1.

ANNAN - Change "Sapeque" to "Dong" which is the correct denomination. Revision needed to add known presently unlisted types and a notation of "many minor varieties" should be included in the introduction.

AUSTRIA - Several plates needed in section Y1-Y25 to aid in identification. Y68 should be renumbered Y59a as there is only a minor difference in the size of the building, the letters and diameter. Y93 inclusive dates should be 1946-52. Y94 inclusive dates should be 1952,57. Y96 and later issues need to be renumbered in order to make location easier.

BELGIAN CONGO - Relocate alphabetically. Y20-21 should have separate listing for French and Flemish issues.

BELGIUM - All French and Flemish issues should have separate listings. Y62 inclusive dates should read 1953-63. Y63 inclusive dates should read 1952-64.

BOLIVIA - Y14-18 should list size in millimeters to aid in identity.

CHINA - Will be covered later as more reports are received from specialists in this area.

COSTA RICA - Y17-19 should be renumbered as varieties of Y13-15.

CUBA - Y1 should be deleted as it is a fund-raising issue and was never intended as a regular issue.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA - Y17 price needs correcting (1400.0).

(To be continued later)
